

Professionalism and Confidence through Training

Targeting safety and risk management

Beyond Risk Management Ltd. in conjunction with Curt Lewis & Associates LLC are pleased to host

“A Practical Approach to Safety Management Systems”

a course designed for the aviation industry.

With the ICAO recommendations and standards for the introduction of Safety Management Systems throughout the world – you can get ahead of the curve and save time and money by learning the potential pitfalls and challenges associated to its implementation. The Canadian large aircraft aviation industry has experienced many of the same challenges likely to be faced by others. To better prepare you and your organization to meet these challenges we are pleased to bring to you the Canadian 705 experience with regulated Safety Management Systems adapted to your needs.

Dates – February 3rd and 4th (Friday and Saturday), SEATS ARE LIMITED - to ensure good discussion and time to question in a workshop environment class size is intentionally intimate. Register now to avoid disappointment.

Important Details - This course covers the ICAO standards and the Canadian requirements and experience. The content is global in nature enabling participants from other nations and industries to find the material both useful and beneficial. For Canadian attendees this course fulfills the requirements for CASO training (non 705 operators.)
